Dr. Hatfield proposes to protect candidates in the future from being subject to such methods as were resorted to by the Democratic press in the campaign just closed in an effort to create prejudice against candidates by getting away from the real issues of the campaign.

He also declares that he will endeavor to carry out every promise that he has made to the public during the primary campaign as well as in the general election and that he will be in no alignment with any faction in his party. Dr. Hatfield's statement to the people of the state is as follows:

"Words are inadequate for me to express my sincere thanks to the citizenship of West Virginia for the support of the Progressive and Republican alike who gave me their undivided support on Tuesday and made me their governor-elect.

COAL OPERATORS BRING DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST HEAD OFFICIALS OF THE COAL MINERS UNION

DEMOCRATS HOPE WITH CAUSE LOST

Imagine Hatfield is Not Elected But Returns Show That He Is.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 8.—Failure to secure figures from McDowell county, the home county of Dr. Hatfield, Republican candidate for governor, today caused Democratic leaders to predict the election of Thompson, Democrat, for governor.

McDowell in all the estimates had been credited with 4,000 plurality for Hatfield, but the Democrats now claim they have a chance for an even break there, which will wipe out the Hatfield plurality in the state and make the election very close.

The Democratic state committee today took steps to insure fairness in every county during the official canvass of the vote next week.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 8.—Chairman James S. Lakin of the Republican state committee smiled broadly when shown a Wheeling press dispatch today to the effect that the governorship was in doubt in this state and that the official count seemed necessary to decide it.

"I have accurate returns and most careful estimates from all the fifty-five counties," declared Mr. Lakin, "and there is nothing to base any such claim on. Dr. Hatfield has not only carried the state but by a plurality that even our Democratic friends can not get around. His plurality in the state is right around 15,000. Our advice direct from Welch, the county seat of McDowell, is that Dr. Hatfield carried that county by more than 5,000."

"The entire Republican state ticket is elected by pluralities equal to as large as Dr. Hatfield's. In some counties other members of the state ticket ran ahead of Dr. Hatfield slightly, while in others they fell a little below him, but their pluralities are virtually the same as his."

TOWN IN VIRGINIA WIPED OUT BY FIRE

SENATE

And House of Congress Will Both Be Controlled by the Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Control of the Senate in the sixty-third Congress is now practically assured to the Democrats. Conceding to the Republicans the legislatures of all states still in the doubtful column, the Democrats will have a vote of 48 or just one-half of the entire membership of the senate, with a Democratic vice-president in the chair to cast the deciding ballot in case of a tie. Seven states are yet to be heard from definitely. A senator from one of these would give the Democrats a clear majority and it is possible that their strength will be further increased by winning in several states.

The next House of Representatives will have 230 Democrats, 123 Republicans and 16 Progressive members. This gives the Democrats an impressive plurality of 161 over the Republicans in the House and a clear majority of 145 over the combined Republican and Bull Moose strength.

The Democratic margin over the Republicans in the present House is only 71.
